

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL.

FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1872.

NOTICE.

All communications, either of an editorial or business character, will be received by the Editors of HILTON & CAMPBELL, loc. 18, Stanford, Ky.

All notices solicited for advertising, subscriptions, or job work must be sent in character and in time to meet the expense of its publication before the notice can be inserted.

James Cook is our authorized agent at Louisville to contract for Job Work. Advertising, etc., to be addressed to James Cook, 100 Main Street, Louisville.

OUR AGENTS.—F. B. McLean, Cashier, 100 Main Street; W. C. Card, manager, 212 W. Main Street; L. S. Jones, Post Hill; J. R. Davis, Shuter City.

To Subscribers.

We would very respectfully suggest to our subscribers that before they make complaints to us about not receiving their paper regularly, they had better pay the postage, which is five cents per quarter in advance, or twenty cents per annum. We have heard a great many complaints, and until the postage is paid, we do not intend to endeavor to trace lost papers. Some of our post masters are a little careless about delivering our papers, and we will in due time attend to the matter. In the meantime we urge our subscribers not only to pay their postage, but also pay their subscription, and their complaints will the more readily elicit a response.

Business Directory.

Those of our business men who desire their names inserted in our Business Directory for the small sum of 50cts per quarter in advance, can have it done by leaving their orders.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

THOSE TREES.

Greece stock is still advancing.

Clean out your wells and cisterns.

Brigham Young is 71 years of age.

Well, who is the busidest man in town?

Many of our farmers are harvesting this week.

Four births in town last week. This beats Pine Hill.

Craig McAllister want wheat. See advertisement.

Hon. Jas. B. Beck has returned home from Washington.

We are sick. Are there any Medical Springs in this country?

Waters & Dawson are hungry. See their new advertisement.

A correct picture of our next President can be seen at our office.

Our "Lookout" at Turnersville sends us a news letter this week.

Kentucky University had 600 students during the past season.

Our Lancaster correspondent opposes the granting of "Coffe-house" license.

Now is the time to have your bill heads, letter heads, statements etc., printed.

The young men of Somersett have found a "mane" not! Read letter from "Alert."

It is devoutly hoped that no base ball club will be organized in Stanford this season.

McAllister & Miller propose to buy wheat at the highest market price, in another column.

It is the universal desire of our citizens that the streets of Stanford be appropriately named.

The latest campaign issue is "The Old White Hat," a weekly paper, published in New York.

Our colored friends will hold their annual Fair, this year at the usual meeting place—JINNS.

The Farmers' National Bank will commence building their new banking house in a few days.

The Farmer's Club will meet at the National Bank to-morrow. Let there be a full attendance.

Suspicious cars are slain by wholesale when found on the streets of Danville, by order of the board of trustees.

Ben Tible of Danville, the best barber and hair dresser in Central Kentucky, wrought the change in our personal appearance this week.

The reports of the condition of the National and Farmers' Banks of this place will be found in this issue. They speak for themselves.

The Fair catalogues will appear next week. We have been detained by the committee on printing, until after the board of Directors meet on to-morrow.

The net proceeds of the Cantata at Lancaster in the evening last, was $145, which was distributed equally among the Sunday schools of that place.

If chilidus don't visit our colored neighbors on the "town brands" in the rear of the Presbyterian church, it will not be for want of sufficient blit to attract them.

Potato bugs are as stupid as they are voracious. Straw spread lightly over the young vines foils the insects, who do not think of overhauling it to find the potatos underneath.

Farmers watch your wheat. If the "blight" gets into it, it will be ruined in a short time.

As soon as it is detected, proceed at once to cut and shock it whether green or ripe. So say an old farmer.

The handsomest buggy we have seen for years was recently built by our enterprising carriage manufacturers, Dennis & Clark, for a young friend of ours at this place. We sometimes take short rides for our health, when an opportunity presents itself.

Geo. D. Weaver, of this place, rented the booths of our Fair at $152. The Association may rest assured that, make or lose, George will abide by the law in the case. For our part, we had rather see the privilege of setting confectioneries, etc., given to him, than rent an enormous price to some men.

Births.

To the wife of Rev. S. H. King, of this county, on Saturday morning the 16th inst., a son. Weight 12 lbs.

To the wife of John W. Wallace, of this place, on the 15th inst., a son—J. Willie.

Cool Weather.

The "olded inhabitant" does not remember to have experienced as much cool weather as we have had this spring and summer. The mornings and evenings are especially cool, and fire has been very acceptable nearly every day, and people sit about the streets on the sunny side, wrapped in overcoats. What causes this departure from the usual temperature?

Central Hotel.

The Central hotel in Danville is kept, and well kept by our old fellow citizen, M. C. Portman. We know whereof we speak when we say no better hotel can be found in Central Kentucky. Mr. P.—told us "something that we don't like to tell"; but if he ever concludes to come back to a railroad town like this, we will all welcome him.

FROM PINE HILL.

PINE HILL, KY., June 19, 1872.

Correspondence Interior Journal.

Hardesdale will evidently be compelled to give up the ghost, as Ashley Owens has sold to John Owens, of Cave City, his steam saw mill. This mill was the bone and sinew of the place and we sympathize with the inhabitants in their misfortune. John Owens will move this mill to Cave City immediately, and will soon have it in complete running order, and it will materially revive that place. Cave City has been in a rather dilapidated condition ever since John Owens sold his other mill, which was moved to Piney, and is still in mercantile operation at that place.

The coal miners' strike has been unmercifully adjusted, and all hands are more vigorously at work than ever. The coal business will soon be quite lively again, and all those who desire it can now get coal on short notice. Mr. A. J. Sweeney, of the coal firm of Sweeney & Owsley, of Fish Point, has disposed of his interest in the coal business to Wm. P. Owsley, the junior partner of the firm, formerly of Stanford. Mr. Owsley will hereafter carry on the coal business in his usual enterprising and business-like manner.

Some of our precious Pine Hill pupils are carrying on a clandestine correspondence through the post office. The principal of the school should be vigilant in this little love-making affair in school, and arrest all future attempts of disobedience, and properly teach the young ideas now in sheet.

Mr. Gran Johnston severely castigated a young lady with a black birch, a short time ago, for some trivial misdemeanor, and in return a jury of his peers decided to board him free at the Mt. Vernon jug for fifteen days, where he is now serving out his time in the darkest dungeon. When he regains his freedom, we trust he will be a wiser and better man and conclude to let other people's business alone.

The extensive dinner bell, which was ordered sometime ago, expressly for the Miner's hotel, has arrived at last, and now summons innumerable gourmands to their regular repasts, three times a day.

MARIED.

The passenger train can over and completely annihilated the well-known levine quadruped that supplied the Central Hotel with its fatliest elements. All the citizens of Pine Hill gathered around the dead carcass of the animal, and appeared to feel much sympathy over the melancholy spectacle. There is a general waiting and gnashing of teeth among the inmates of the Central Hotel from the loss of their pet, and thereby the absence of their accustomed laetitia fluid. All the citizens expressed their hearty condolences with the sadly bereaved.
